Leadership

The mission of JROTC is to motivate young adults to become better citizens. Through the JROTC program, “All Cadets participate with a spirit of willingness,” while learning to lead through embodying and employing the principles of leadership while displaying the seven Army values. Summerville’s Program of Instruction is military-styled and led by our Cadet Leaders. Cadet Leaders are responsible for the planning, organization, and execution of all school activities and many community outreach programs. Cadet leaders are selected and advance through a merit-based promotion system where cadets demonstrate the attributes of Scholarship, Athletics, and Leadership (S.A.L.).

Honor

Cadets are expected to honor their peers; mutual respect is required and bullying is not tolerated.

Leadership: this student lead program requires cadets to show respect and follow directions of their cadet leadership.

Teachers: classroom procedures are organized in a military fashion.

Parents: the cadet-parent-teacher relationship is the cornerstone of successful educational experience.

Community: Summerville Cadets desire to serve is only exceeded by their reputation of service.

Nation: every morning cadets raise and honor the flag in a school-wide military formation.

“A Cadet Does Not Lie, Cheat, or Steal, nor Tolerate Those Who Do.”
Words that adorn the Halls of Summerville Adopted from West Point

Scholarship

Summerville Academy provides highly motivated students in grades 9-12 the opportunity to participate in a challenging, comprehensive and rigorous college preparatory curriculum. The school features a military-style approach designed to develop lifelong learners and leaders of principle.

Historically, Summerville graduates go onto West Point, Annapolis, New York University, Florida Southern College, University of Florida and many other educational institutions. Cadets excelling in academics and other programs are often awarded scholarships for continued education.

A Summerville cadet will be challenged with AP, Honors, and Dual-Enrollment Courses. Summerville cadets are also expected to take one of the following critical languages Arabic, Chinese, Japanese or Russian.

Our unique electives create a program of study that challenges the mind, strengthens the body, builds character and instills the confident attitude needed in today’s changing world. Some of these challenging electives offer scholarship opportunities.
